

EXERCISEDRAFTING A CORPORATE DEPOSITION NOTICEBackground

The partner on your team is putting together a deposition notice for a corporate witness. She asked another associate on your team to draft the potential deposition topics. She thinks the topics probably won't be objectionable and doesn't want to spend much time negotiating them with opposing counsel.

The associate wants to make sure the topics are his best work, but it's his first time drafting topics for a corporate witness. He's asked your advice on what to include in the topics and things to avoid.

Instructions

Come prepared to discuss the advice you'll give the associate on your team.
